San Francisco, May 27.-The most palpable piece of jobbery ever witness ed at the Bay district track was attempted in the fourth race today, and as a result Jockey William Flynn, who and Berger. has always borne an unsavory reputation, was ruled off for life by judges and all bets on the race were declared off. Flynn, who rode Realization, pulled his mount from start to finish and when close to the judges' stand, seeing that Realization would win, he actually pulled the horse's head sideways in full view of the judges and spectators and Arnette, the favorite, won by a short neck. Only one favorite won today, but the winners were well enough played to prevent the bookles from getting the best of the World's Fair Exhibitors Will be Reached Early in September.

Early in September.

Washington, May 27.—There is a good prospect for world's fair exhibitors getting their medals not later than Sept. I, 1895. It has been decided by the treasury department that the work of distribution need not be performed by the national commission, but the medals will be sent to their destination from Waterbury, Conn., where they are being magnifications. All the they are being manufactured. All the names of exhibitors to whom awards of this character have been made have been sent to the contractors, and when the medals have been completed they will be sent to the commission of the various states in this country and to representatives of foreign governments will be sent to the various states in this country and to various states in this country and to representatives of foreign governments for distribution among those entitled to them. This has been determined upon as the result of a conference between Engraver Barber of the Philiative Engraver Barber of the mint bureau. From an investigation conducted by Mr. Barber he sation conducted by Mr. Barber he sation certainly be finished the latter part of August, and hence September 1 was agreed upon as the date for distribution. MADE BEEF OF STOLEN CATTLE. Dangerous Gang of Thieves and Murderers Discovered Near St. Louis.

St. Louis, Mo., May 27.—A thrilling story of the operations of a murderous and daring gang of cattle thieves in the western part of Maries county, Mo., came to light at the jail here when Louis Daniels, aged 29, was locked up, Daniels' home is in Spring Creek, Maries county, and he belongs to a good family. He is charged with being a member of a gang which has terrorized Maries county for a month. Cattle were the chief plunder. The gang was composed of twelve men, some of the best citizens being involved. At night the gang sallied forth from their meeting place to "round up" all cattle found loose. They were driven all cattle found loose. They were driven to a secluded spot where a slaughter house had been erected. After being quartered the meat was shipped to St. Louis and other large cities to be sold. The dissapearance of hundreds of cat-tie finally aroused the farmers and they organized to hunt down the thieves. One night a well known citizen, a member of the farmers' vigitance committee disappeared. Search for him resulted in the discovery of his mutilated body, Another cause assigned for breaking the engagement was that she was informed he had, years ago, been the father of an illegitimate child, but she did not tell him that that was one of the reasons for discarding him.

General surprise was created when Mrs. Powell testified that Warner used threats to compel her to fulfill the engagement, and he told her if she morried any other man he (Warner) would shoot him, her and himself. That he had three bullets, one for each of them. She also testified that he applied to her for the loan of $200, and offered good security, and that he told her when they were married he would live with her and not do any more work. During cross-examination, which was searching and drastle, Mrs. Powell became faint, and had to be removed from the court room for a time.

lomacy Mr. Gresham had much to his credit. He did all that a foreign of-ficer could do properly to prevent the atrocities of the Japanese war; lost no opportunity at any stage to bring it to an end and ultimately when peace was restored, it was through the good offices of the American ministers of China and Japan acting under Secretary Gresham's instructions that the peace negotiations were initiated. All china and Japan acting under Secretary Gresham's instructions that the peace negotiations were initiated. All this was done in a manner that made it clear to the world that the United States was acting absolutely without self interest and from motives of humanity, notwithstanding the temptations held out by some of the great European powers to act jointly with them from less worthy motives that might have brought a self-return. And while he was doing this Secretary Gresham was also using his good offices to prevent a war between Mexico and Guatemala, both full of fighting spirit and difficult of restraint and in this he succeeded completely, although he was obliged to use very strong representations to do so. While the amount involved was insignificant in the case of the claims of the United States citizens against Venezuela, Secretary Gresham managed through a tone to the complete to the states of the claims of the United States citizens against Venezuela, Secretary Gresham managed through a tone to the complete to the states of the claims of the United States citizens against Venezuela, Secretary Gresham managed through a tone to the complete to the states of the claims of the United States citizens against Venezuela, Secretary Gresham managed through a time to the states of the claims of the United States citizens against Venezuela, Secretary Gresham managed through a time to the states of the claims of the United States citizens against Venezuela, Secretary Gresham managed through a state of the complete that the peace of the claims of the United States citizens against Venezuela, Secretary Gresham managed through a state of the case of the claims of the United States citizens against the complete the states of the claims of the United States citizens against the states of the claims of the United States citizens against the states of the claims of the United States citizens against the states of the claims of the United States and the states of the claims of the states of the claims of the states of the cl States citizens against Venezuela, Secretary Gresham managed through a joint commission to secure a judicial annunciation of doctrine that is of the greatest importance to the civilized world, namely, that the government of a country is responsible for the abuse or ill treatment, for financial redress of foreigners committed by insurgents. THREE INCIDENTS.

But the Aemricanism of the secretary was shown in its brightest light in three incidents that occurred during his ad-ministration and the fact that in two of the three he had to contend with great powers nidicates that he made no discooking receipts for indigestile dishes, the real woman is lost sight of. She is not new. She represents the glorious trinity of love, devotion and self-sacrifice. She bathed Christ's feet in tears, and was first at the cross. She sold her jewels that Columbus might discover America, led the armies of France to victory, and was burned at the stake for her patriotism. She was torn to pieces for her beauty and learning in ancient Egypt, and is torn to pieces today in this republic, where she dares to think for herself and disagree with self-organized saints who mistake their livers for their conscience. She gave the Gracohi to Rome, and sent her sens to fight for our Union while scraping lint for the wounded in her desolate home. She wrote lyrics in old Greece, "Aurora Leigh" and "Adam Bede" in modern England, and "Uncle Tom's Cahin' in our own country. From the beginning of history she has been the half of creation and the complement of man. With advancing civilization the real woman waves in self-knowledge. tinction when the time came to claim rights for his own country. The first of the cases, while attracting little at-tention, for it amounted to a declara-tion to Europe that the United States would not permit private claims to be collected from American republics where our citizens had pecuniary interests. This was the case at San Domingo when the French warships, which had come there to enforce the collection of a private claim, were withdrawn after a very strong hint from Secretary fer a very strong hint from Secretary Gresham, conveyed through Ambassa-dor Eustis, that the United States would not regard such a course as a friendly manifestation.

With advancing civilization the real woman waxes in self-knowledge and begins to realize the grandeur of her mission. The tag and slave are gradually disappearing. No home worthy of the man can exist wherein reason, intelligence, confidence, truth and love do not reign. Without such homes this republic cannot last. Scales are fast falling from the eyes of despairing men. They see, as never before, that American steamer by a cannon shot, Mr. Gresham called for and secured a very prompt apology.
